AS 62-YEAR-OLD NIBBI BROTHERS CONTINUES TO EXPAND, COMPANY PROMOTES PROJECT EXECUTIVE GREG NARVICK TO VP OF OPERATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, CA., FEBRUARY 22, 2012—San Francisco-based Nibbi Brothers General Contractors announced that it has promoted Project Executive Greg Narvick to Vice President of Operations.

Greg was hired by Nibbi Brothers in 1998 as a Project Manager and was promoted to Project Executive in 2006.

In his 14 years with the company, says Nibbi President Robert Nibbi, “Greg has earned a reputation within Nibbi and among his clients for being a responsive manager and a creative problem solver. However, it’s his passion for results that has truly earned him this new level of responsibility.”

Greg earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Management and an Associate of Applied Science degree in Construction Technology from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. A LEED® Accredited Professional, Greg is active in a number of industry and community organizations, including Family House—a not-for-profit organization providing temporary housing to families of seriously ill children receiving treatment at UCSF San Francisco Children's Hospital.

###

Founded in 1950, Nibbi Brothers is a builder of technically complex urban projects whose singular objective is getting the job done right. It's a philosophy that guides every action on every Nibbi project. By relentlessly focusing on the right goals, the right people and the right approach, we help our clients find the best solutions to their project needs. Nibbi's primary market sectors include commercial, community-based, education, mixed-use and multi-family, seismic/historic and waterfront. We currently are building the Exploratorium @ Pier 15 ($140M), which is targeting LEED Gold, with possible Platinum, certification, and as striving to become the first net-zero energy in the world.
